

Algorithm Study Notes

Binary search requires sorted input and repeatedly halves the search interval. Its time complexity is $O(\log n)$.

Bubble sort compares adjacent items; average time complexity $O(n^2)$.

Selection sort selects the smallest remaining item; time complexity $O(n^2)$.